Dear Tenure and Promotion Committee:

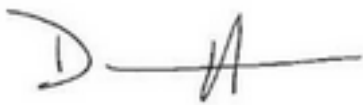

I am pleased to write this letter highlighting Dr. Darryl Chamberlain's outstanding service as a member of the combined college-level search committee for the chairs of the Departments of Mathematics, Science, and Technology (MST) and Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSS) at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University Worldwide in 2024. As chair of this unusually large and consequential search, I worked closely with Dr. Chamberlain and saw firsthand the value he brought to the process.

At the time, Dr. Chamberlain was serving as acting chair of the MST department. Along with J. R. Hanamean, the acting chair of the BSS department, he functioned in many respects as an assistant chair of the search committee. He provided thoughtful and serious advisement, helped organize the screening and evaluation of candidates, and contributed substantially to the committee's deliberations. In particular, Dr. Chamberlain helped develop and implement the system we used to evaluate candidates against the search's key criteria. His careful, analytical approach brought clarity and rigor to a complex process involving faculty from two departments and the selection of two department chairs.

Dr. Chamberlain was also vital to every stage of the search, including the vetting of applicants, Zoom interviews, and on-campus interviews. The committee's work resulted in the successful appointment of Dr. Timothy Smith as chair of MST and the completion of a thorough and successful search for a highly qualified BSS candidate, who ultimately declined the University's offer for reasons beyond the committee's control.

Dr. Chamberlain's service demonstrated exceptional professionalism and collegiality. His contributions were indispensable to the committee's success and reflect the leadership, collaborative ability, and dedication to shared governance that make him an invaluable member of the faculty. I recommend him without reservation.

Sincerely,

David M. Higgins, Ph.D.
